

The market challenge

Demands on private credit teams are at an all-time high. Saddled with obsolete technology, analysts are faced with monitoring multiple portfolio company data rooms, downloading PDFs and manually inputting data into their credit models. Inevitably, human error impacts data accuracy leading to an impaired view of credit risk and quality.

CreditVision is an integrated SaaS and managed data service that streamlines operations and reduces complexity throughout the credit cycle to deliver accurate, structured and traceable data. By consolidating asset data into a single platform, it provides your credit teams with intuitive visualisation and analysis, giving you deep insights into asset level performance for greater confidence.

Streamline operations and analysis across the credit cycle

- Empower your credit teams by normalising borrower financial statements into a common chart of accounts across your portfolio.
- A common platform enables deal teams to collaborate across the portfolio for smarter, more comprehensive analysis and a better understanding of holdings.
- Our managed services team harmonise key historical data and new data from multiple internal and external sources to give you structured data with easy access
- Data accuracy above 99.9% brings a new level of certainty to assessing trends and issues for deeper insight
- Increases accountability by providing analysts with full data traceability and access to the underlying source documents for raw data values.

Clearer, more accessible credit data

- Ingests corporate debt and financial statements from Balance Sheets to Debt Breakdown and Covenant Compliance Certificates.
- Extracts data and delivers data at speed through a fully streamlined process that leverages machine learning, automation, and domain expertise
- Trace data backwards from our standardised chart of accounts into the management account view and ultimately back to source documents.
- Leverage robust, high-performance data and computing technology to find unique data insights
- Intuitively generates engaging charts, dashboards, and snapshots of your portfolios for faster, simpler analysis.
